Vocational Story

The IRCC Vocational Department, located in the Industrial Building just west of the gym, offers low-cost services to the student body, faculty, and staff. Service costs are kept to a minimum since parts and materials are purchased wholesale. The campus customer pays the retail price for the parts, plus a $1.00 shop fee. There is no charge for labor. However, the customer may encounter delay in completion of the job because in some measure on the instructional program. Students learning the various skills perform all the work.

Services are offered in several areas.

Agriculture: This section holds a state nursery license and has flowers, plants, citrus, and hanging baskets for sale. Contact Mr. Theodore Swingle, instructor and department chairman.

Auto Mechanics: Work is generally geared to the specific kind of job the students are currently learning. Small jobs, such as oil changes and lubrication, can be worked in between major jobs. All work is by appointment only, which can be arranged through Mr. John Johnson, the instructor.

Welding: Heavy repair work — such as frames and trailers — is the main work here. Mr. James Brown, the instructor, has additional details.

Auto Body and Fender Repair: There is a long waiting list for body work. To add your name, call Mr. Joe Neuton. When the students can take your car, you will be notified.

Air Conditioning, Heating, and Refrigeration: Mr. Russell Privateer can answer questions about repairs.

Radio-T.V. Repair: This is the newest Vocational Program and is not yet fully operational. Limited television repair and service is available by contacting Mr. Robert Fair.

Here's What To Do

The customer agrees to the following conditions:

1. The training job has not been previously presented to any local concern for a bid nor has any action been taken which would place the Vocational School in a competitive position with local business concerns.
2. Any new articles resulting from a training job are not for resale nor is the item being repaired to be sold nor is any profit to accrue in any manner to the person authorizing that training job.
3. Any equipment which is furnished to the person authorizing the training job is placed at the disposal of the Vocational School for training purposes for an indefinite period of time; that the completion of the training job is dependent up on the shop training schedule and that the Vocational School is not liable for loss or damage to the equipment through fire, theft, or other causes.

4. The cost of materials will be borne by the person authorizing the training job and that the item being constructed or repaired is to remain in the possession of the Vocational School until the cost of materials furnished by the School is paid.

NEW

FACULTY MEMBERS

Not only were wedding bells recently heard for Mrs. Brundage, they were also heard for Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Matthews, and Dr. Maxwell. Congratulations!

Also added to the faculty this year were Mr. William Arnold, Associate Dean of Administration; Dr. James Nestor, guidance counselor, and Mrs. Ramona Scott, head librarian.

Mr. William Arnold earned his M.Ed. from Florida Atlantic University and has completed all work toward his doctorate, except for his dissertation, at Florida State University.

For one year he was the Associate Superintendent for the Putnam County School System. At Godby High School he was principal, and at St. Andrews Private School, he was Dean of Students.

How do you feel about President Nixon's new relations with Red China ?

Beginning with this issue, the Pioneer Post will be conducting various student polls on pertinent issues of the day. If you have something which you feel would like asked of a cross-section of our students at IRCC, feel free to drop your ideas into the student center. Write: Pioneer Post, Box 2, Bookstore. Answers occurring in this column do not necessarily reflect those ideas of the Pioneer Post or its staff.

Editors

John Phillip Zimmaro (Vero Beach): "I have mixed emotions on the matter. It's good that both countries are moving together, if China has good intentions. But not if they are using this as a foothold to get into the U.N. (which I personally think they are)."

Gary Key (Ft. Pierce): "I believe it is good for world relations and peace among major powers. The more we deal with them, the better we'll have understanding among each other."

Mike McMahon (Stuart): "I remain neutral on the idea."

Barbara Nourse (Stuart): "I think that his new policy is much more intelligent than the old one. We just can't ignore the existence of a country with as many people and as much potential as Red China."

James E. Peele (Ft. Pierce): "If we are to have a better understanding of other countries, and if other countries are to have a better understanding of the United States, we must open the door whereby there may be a better means of communication established. Nixon may not solve the difference between the U. S. and Red China, but he may establish a better means of communications. A better means of communication and understanding between the two nations may bring about more favorable relations in Southeast Asia and other countries."

Margo Prosk, (Stuart): "I think its a good step toward bridging the gap between the United States and Red China. I think that both countries will benefit by the friendlier relations."

Ricky Ford (Stuart): "I feel that Mr. Nixon is adopting a two-China policy. However, I must agree with his open-mindedness toward Red China because the past attitudes toward Red China are outdated and it is impossible to ignore that many people."

Walter Beaton (Stuart): "For over 750,000,000 people, someone must let their feelings be expressed. It is like caging up human beings and throwing away the key. This is inhuman. They must have voice for their opinion. If they have a chance then maybe one of the most bloodiest wars now going on will come to an end. Pass up this chance now and you will be begging for this chance again."

Rob Arnold (Winter Beach): "I feel that his new policy towards Red China isn't in agreement with the feelings of the majority of the American people. However, I must admit that often a president must create new policies of various types, which are completely political and are hardly ever in agreement with the majority of the American people's feelings. So, I guess we have to stand by whether we like it or not, and let them run us, in place of us running them, including President Nixon. In conclusion, I would like to ask, "What does President Nixon really think about his new policy towards Red China?"

Linda Braun (Ft. Pierce): "I am afraid that if Red China is admitted to the U.N. through this new relationship, Nationalist China will gradually get ousted. One Communist country on the Security Council is enough!"

FACULTY MEMBERS

Dr. James Nestor received his D.Ed. from the University of Virginia. Before coming to IRCC, he was employed at the Blue Ridge Mental Health Clinic at the University of Virginia. He taught pediatrics at Ohio State and was a teacher of medicine at Kent State University.

Mrs. Ramona Scott received her M.Ed. from Chicago State University. She completed two years of library work at a high school and has taught two years in elementary education. Originally from Chicago, Mrs. Scott plays the piano as a hobby.

FACULTY MEMBERS

This year at Indian River Community College, six new instructors have been added to the faculty.

Mrs. Allison Brundage earned her B.S.N. (Bachelor of Science in Nursing) from Florida State University. Prior to coming to IRCC, she worked at the Indian River County Health Clinic, Indian River Hospital, Florida State Hospital, Tallahassee Memorial Hospital, and Hollywood Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Patricia Clunn, Registered Nurse, received her B.S.N. from the University of Pennsylvania and her M.A. and M.Ed. from Columbia University in New York. Also, all course work toward her doctorate, except for her dissertation, was completed at Columbia University.

Her work included teaching at Trenton State Teacher's College in New Jersey, Helen Field Hospital, a Women's Medical College in New Jersey, High Point Hospital in New York, and two years at Neuro Psychiatric Hospital in New Jersey.

Working with students in the T.V.-Radio program, is Mr. Robert Fair, a T.V.-Radio repairman. He formerly owned a T.V. shop in Broville, Texas, and while in the service, he worked with communications. Mr. Fair is originally from Cocoa, Florida.

Mr. Ray Isenburg, business teacher, received his Master of Science from the University of Tennessee. Before coming to IRCC, he taught high school as well as two years at DeKalb Junior College in Clarkston, Georgia.

Mr. John D. Kennedy, who teaches English and Journalism, expects to receive his Ph.D. in December from the University of Florida. He obtained his bachelor's degree from Villanova University in Pennsylvania, and his master's from the University of Maryland.

For three years, Mr. Kennedy was an Assistant Editor for the Chilton Company, where his work dealt with trade magazines. Another three years he taught as an English instructor at St. Anselm's College in Manchester, New Hampshire.

Though Mr. Paul Matthews, instructor for the Registered Nurse program, taught here one semester previously, this is his first full year. He received his B.S.N. from the University of Florida. Prior to coming to IRCC in January of 1970, he studied in Costa Rica and for one year

THE JESUS MOVEMENT

There is a religious phenomenon occurring in this country. Having had its beginning in southern California, it is now spreading eastward with the ferocity of a wind-driven brush fire, leaving changed individuals and communities in its path.

It is the "Jesus Movement." Ardent followers of Jesus of Nazareth, coming from all types of life styles such as freaks, straight suburbanites, and teenyboppers, are all blitzing their communities with a dedication and love for their fellow man rarely seen in recent times.

What is this? The movement, if nothing else, is certainly controversial — almost to the extent early Christianity was. As with all movements, it has its opposing factions. Some groups believe speaking in tongues is necessary for the Christian experience, whereas others accept people who speak in tongues as well as people who don't. Some don't accept tongues at all.

All groups believe everyone, Christian and atheist alike, are loved equally by God and that dedication to one's brother is proof of one's love for God and God's love for man. Free meals and places to stay are common gifts to strangers, love and peace abound. Determined efforts are continually made to show love for one another in concrete ways.

The initial reaction of the institutionalized church was a vehement, "We didn't start it, so it can't be real." Now that attitude is changing with the current trend of thought being: this movement can refreshen and invigorate the church and the church can give the movement data on the Christian life accumulated over the centuries and up to the present day.

Enthusiasm is what is needed in the church. The unstructured nature of the Jesus Movement seems to perpetuate its spontaneity and vitality. A popular criticism is that if the movement became institutionalized, it will die. This is an odd supposition.

was a counselor at Florida Atlantic University.

Dr. Steve Maxwell, math instructor, was born in Plant City, Florida. He received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Florida.

The church is indeed institutionalized, and it is far from being dead. It is merely irrelevant to the youth sub-culture. In any event, both church and movement must bend to accept the other. "Love thy neighbor" must also read "Love thy freak" and "Love thy establishment people."

One of the necessary courses of action will be to loosen the rigid structure of the church. These new Christians have discovered a new and vigorous life style and to say the very least, they're excited about it.

"Amen, brother" will simply have to find room for "far out" and "out-of-sight preacher" terminology.

The common cause of loving one's neighbor and spreading the gospel of Jesus Christ must be the focal point around which both sides must revolve. To many church-goers, the church is the rock of Christianity they adhere to because it is 2000 years old and therefore sacred.

Faith in God, not tradition, has always been the key to Christianity. And whether the believers are members of a 2000 years old religion or not, faith is still the ultimate key. The point is simply this: if the Jesus freaks and the church people both have faith in God, reconciliation is possible. If both have a love capable of bridging the gap between themselves and non-believers, certainly believers can bridge their own differences.

The outcome of the Jesus Revolution remains to be seen, of course. Whether or not it will be incorporated into the church, and the church into it, only time will tell.

At this point in time, the Jesus Movement is big and still growing. The movement will also shake some people before it is through.

Presently Dr. Maxwell is a member of the Pi Mu Epsilon Fraternity and a member of the Gold Key Honor Society.

The Selective Service System recently clarified expected policy changes on undergraduate student deferments.

College students who were enrolled full-time in the 1970-71 academic year will be eligible for student deferments in the 1971-72 school year if they continue to make satisfactory progress in their programs of study, Selective Service officials said. However, young men who entered school for the first time this past summer and those who have enrolled as freshmen this fall will not qualify for student deferments if the pending changes to the Selective Service are passed by Congress. The House has completed action on the bill and final Senate action is expected shortly.

Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, Selective Service Director, said: "Few incoming freshmen students are likely to be inducted in the near future because of the student deferment phase out. Of the 1,034,000 incoming freshmen males estimated by the Office of Education, approximately 80% are 18 year olds, and only 20% are 19 years of age or older."

According to the Selective Service System, the 18 year olds will receive their lottery numbers in 1972, and they will not be subject to induction until 1973, when draft calls should be low. The 19 year old freshmen received their lottery numbers August 5 of this year and will be subject to induction next year. At least half of these young men should have high enough induction numbers to preclude being drafted.

Of these remaining, approximately 50% will be disqualified on mental, moral, or physical grounds. This means that a maximum of 50,000 men will be directly affected in 1972 by the student deferment phaseout and half of these (about 25,000) will probably not be inducted because of enlistments in Regular, Reserve or National Guard units, participating in commissioning programs or because of procedural delays.

Dr. Tarr also said that college students will not be drafted in the middle of a semester or term. "If called while enrolled, they will be allowed to postpone their induction until the end of the semester, or term. If in their last academic year, they will be able to postpone their induction after graduation."

Dr. Tarr advised incoming freshmen and students who started their program of study in the summer of 1971 or later not to file applications for student deferments even though the current law authorizes granting deferments to students in full-time programs of study.

"If the pending Selective Service legislation does not pass," Tarr said, "it would not be in a registrant's best interest to obtain a student deferment which would extend his liability until the age of 35. Should congress change the legislation to provide for new incoming freshmen, which is most unlikely, applications for deferments will not be jeopardized by delaying their submission until after passage of the new law."

The President's authority for the induction of all men under 35, except for those who have or who have had deferments, expired on June 30, 1971. If Congress does not reinstate the general induction authority, the President could authorize the induction of those registrants who hold or have held deferments.

In this unlikely event, Selective Service officials believe that manpower requirements of the Department of Defense probably could be met by inducting those young men who have recently dropped deferments because they graduated, dropped out of school, or changed their occupations. Recent college graduates or dropouts would make up the bulk of inductions, the officials said. The officials added that cancellations of deferments probably would not be necessary nor would it be necessary to call those who have passed in the second priority selection group.

Currently, there are approximately six million young men under 35 with deferments. Approximately 500,000 of these normally lose their deferments during a 12-month period. The largest groups of deferred men are those who have received fatherhood, occupational or student deferments.

STETSON UNIVERSITY, DELAND, FLORIDA — An unique program, the Model United States Senate, will be held at Stetson University, this November 11, 12, 13, and 14, 1971. For four days, Thursday through Sunday, one hundred students from across the nation will drop their own identity and become United States Senators. This program is in effect a realistic simulation of the U. S. Senate. During the four days, the "Senate" will be in general sessions; committees will hold hearings to question witnesses and act upon proposed bills; party caucuses will meet to draw up party strategy; and the "Senate" as a whole will "advise and consent" on a Supreme Court nomination.

The Model Senate Committee has been fortunate to draw some "very important persons" to the program. Speakers will be Senator Robert Byrd (D.W.Va.), the Majority Whip; Sen. Lawton Chiles (D.Fla.), former Sen. Spessard Holland (D.,Fla.). Acceptances are still to be received from Sen. Ed Guernsey (R.,Fla.) and Gov. Rueben Askew.

The cost for each "Senator" will be approximately $40. This includes motel room, food, and registration fee. If you have any questions, please contact the IRCC political science and/or history department, or write The Model United States Senate, Stetson University, DeLand, Florida 32720.

University of Kansas

LAWRENCE, KANSAS (I.P.) — Examination of the educational system at the University of Kansas is the goal of the newly-formed Commission on Undergraduate Education.

The seven-member commission of students, established by the Student Senate, will conduct its own departmental surveys with the help of faculty and student representatives in each department. After these sources have provided the commission with sufficient background information the commission will conduct open hearings on basic issues in academic affairs.

The commission was patterned after a similar Brown University study group which published the Brown Manifesto. This 467-page document outlined the merits and shortcomings of that university's educational system.

MUSIC STORY

This column will hopefully, for the next eight months, attempt to keep you informed as to what's happening in the "world of music". Whether it's the latest release from a top band or news of various artists, the depths of the now generation's sounds will be explored.

Being involved with rock music myself over the past few years, I personally have seen it take many shapes and forms. Be it the hard rock vibrations of Grand Funk, the soft personal touch of James Taylor, or the "bubble-gum" approach of The Archies, this all fits into one category.

This is clearly visible by just looking at the Top Ten hits on the chart below. Pint-sized Donnie Osmond has landed the number one song right now with his release of "Go Away Little Girl."

True, the young teenagers help a song of this nature climb into the Hot 100 frequently, but it is a sound that most everyone will listen to.

Bill Withers' "Ain't No Sunshine" fits into the soft-sound approach which more and more artists are leaning to today. And then there's Rare Earth's, "I Just Want To Celebrate," your solid rock beat.

Another aspect of the rock scene which is creeping forward is that of country music. A good example is John Denver's, "Take Me Home Country Roads." It's not often that a record will fit into every type radio station's formats, but this one did.

It seems as though many of the young girls of today really dig the likes of Carole King, Helen Reddy, and Karen Carpenter.

Another movement which cannot be ignored is that of soul. New and younger black groups are emerging nearly every day with the latest to make it big: The Jackson Five, Undisputed Truth, and The Dramatics.

Whenever looking at the Top Ten, you'll probably find almost half are from soul groups . . . a great tribute to the people who make this sort of thing happen.

Yes, rock music has come a long way from the days of Elvis Presley and earlier artists of the 50's. The question is: where is it heading? Even some of the groups can't answer that one.

SUPPORT YOUR PIONEERS!

BASEBALL STORY

The Indian River Community College baseball team is also running through some drills at this time. The Pioneers hope to bounce back next year after going through one of their worst seasons ever last spring.

One big change on the field will find Ray Lunceford taking over as head coach. Lunceford, a musical instructor as well at IRCC, was an assistant last year. He's done a good amount of recruiting in the off-season, hoping to put some pride back into the Pioneer baseball program.

Lunceford told the Pioneer Post recently that his boys were working hard, preparing for their "fall schedule." One opponent will be the Kansas City Royals' Baseball Academy.

Returnees from last year include outfielder Mike Pulaski, and infielders John Tipton, Mike Cobb, and Danny Chandler.

Lunceford, like basketball coach Mike Leatherwood, will be hoping for good student support at games in the near future.

Even though we are in the midst of football season, IRCC's basketball team is preparing now for the upcoming season. Some 15 players are working out under Coach Mike Leatherwood.

The Pioneers finished 21-9 last year, Leatherwood's first. However, Indian River lost all of its five starters due to graduation.

Leatherwood is hoping that new talent such as Greg Van Leer, a 6'4" forward from Evansville, Ind., John Edwards, 6'9" center out of Arlington, Va., and Carlos Fenn, a 6'1" guard from Ft. Pierce, will all come through in fine fashion.

"We're inexperienced this year," says Leatherwood. "However, our freshmen reserves of last year played at times better than our regular starters we lost."

Returning for their sophomore seasons are Greg Mabry, Cameron White, and Arnette Hall — all guards. Hall is the tallest at 6'3" while Mabry and White provide good speed and clutch defense for the Pioneers. Also back is Larry Drake, a 6'4" forward from Pensacola, Fla., as well as Lemuel Jones, a 6'5" center, also from Pensacola.

Leatherwood went on to say, "We're lacking height and physical strength this year, but we'll make up for it in quickness, better shooting and pure determination. This team works harder than last year's."

Other newcomers to watch out for while watching the Pioneers on the court this season are Terry Vance, Jim Gray, and Eugene Williams — all working at guard. Vance is the brother of former IRCC great Ruben Vance, while Williams played locally two years ago for Dan McCarty High.

Other area players listed on the roster are Bernard Davis and Charles Williams of Ft. Pierce, with Bill Myer from Vero Beach.

Another contender for one of the starting forward positions is Mike Fleming who hails from Fall River, Mass. Fleming stands at only 6'3", but will be fighting it out all the way.

A look at the Pioneer schedule will tell you that only a complete team effort can be used this season. And Mike Leatherwood will be the first to tell you that.

"We definitely have a tougher schedule this year," says the youthful mentor. "We'll need a real team effort."

Asked who he thought would be the cream of the crop in Division IV this year, Leatherwood said, "Both Dade-North and South and probably ourselves will be up there this year. However, all the teams will be improved."
